Anirudh is currently an editor at the Museum of Art and Photography, Bangalore. His first book, Lords of the Deccan: Southern India from the Chalukyas to the Cholas, was published by Juggernaut to widespread critical acclaim.

His aim is to make critical scholarship on ancient and medieval India accessible to the public, with an emphasis on culture and society. He tackles nationalist-political rewritings of the history of India by emphasizing the complicated, relatable lives that our ancestors lived. Anirudh also hosts two podcasts: Echoes of India and YUDDHA: The Indian Military History Podcast. Find him at www.anirudhkanisetti.com
